

Johannes Gutenberg University Mainz (JGU) is one of the largest universities in Germany. Thanks to its location in the Rhine-Main science region, the university can unfold to its full potential and showcase its innovative power and dynamism. Its status as a comprehensive university allows for multidisciplinary learning and teaching and has great potential for internationally renowned, interdisciplinary research. Almost all of its institutes are located on a single campus close to the Mainz city center – creating a lively academic culture for researchers, teaching staff, and students from every continent.

The Institute of Ancient Studies at the Faculty of History and Cultural Studies invites applications for the position of beginning as soon as possible.

Salary grade W 2 LBesG | Civil servant

Tasks and expectations:

We are looking for a proven researcher who will represent the entire field of Egyptology in research and teaching. We expect applicants to have a research focus which allows for collaboration within the Institute and is characterized by own activities in Egypt. Special competencies in the field of digital humanities are also a prerequisite. Experience in raising third-party project funding is desired.

Within the JGU profile area 40,000 Years of Human Challenges: Perception, Conceptualization and Coping in Pre-modern Societies, the successful candidate should contribute their own research activities to ongoing and planned collaborative projects. Collaboration in the Centre for Ancient Languages and Writing (ZASS), the Rhine-Main Archeology Association (VARM) and the Rhine-Main Universities (RMU) will be part of the professor's tasks. Regular involvement in interdisciplinary events within and outside the degree programs is a requirement.

The future holder of the position is expected to actively participate in academic self-administration at JGU.

Requirements:

- In addition to the general requirements according to public services law, applicants must meet the recruitment requirements stipulated in Section 49 of the Hochschulgesetz of Rhineland-Palatinate.
- In addition to the doctorate, proof of excellent academic achievements is required.
- A prerequisite for employment is also pedagogical aptitude, which should usually be proven by experience in teaching, or training in didactic methods in a university context.

Please apply via <https://berufungsportal.uni-mainz.de/datenabfrage/Aegyptologie> with your complete application documents (CV; certificates; lists of publications and teaching activities; funding record; current research and future research plans; teaching concept) by January 27th, 2023 at the latest.

The state of Rhineland-Palatinate and JGU are committed to close personal mentoring of students and therefore expect teaching staff to have a strong presence at the university. A cooperative, team-oriented and proactive work attitude, strong communication skills, and the willingness to assume responsibility – including further professional development in accordance with JGU's leadership guidelines – is also expected.

What we have to offer:

JGU firmly supports making family and career compatible and promotes its employees' further professional development with an extensive human resources development offer.

JGU is diverse and welcomes qualified applications from people with varied backgrounds.

JGU aims to increase the number of women in research and teaching and therefore encourages female researchers to apply.

Candidates with severe disabilities and appropriate qualifications will be given priority.
